

2019 John Busch Memorial Food Scholarship

The following application for a $1200 dollar scholarship is created in memory of John Busch who worked at New Leaf Market in the area of food preparation off and on since June of 1999. He resigned and returned to New Leaf several times during his employment, which ended in February 2017. John had a life-long passion for cooking, music, puns, and family.

The scholarship money has been offered by a couple of friends who want his memory honored in the form of a scholarship for someone in the food field. This grant will be awarded to a project, which is healthy food related or organic, or whole food based. Our vision is to award this to a person who is possibly taking classes at one of the local institutions (college or other institution) offering training in the area of food preparation but also to anyone who has a food specific “project” which is related to the well-being of the community. This could be in the form of a food pantry or garden, which would contribute to assisting those in need. Another example is that the money could be used for equipment necessary for the efficient operation of a food project. Rather than for an organization, this money is offered to an individual. Grants will be accepted from May 1-June 30, 2019. The board’s selection committee will meet in July to select a winner.

Examples of projects by individuals that are encouraged to apply:

- Programs that are healthy food related, or organic or whole food based.
- Training to be offered in the area of food preparation
- A food pantry or garden, that contributes to assisting those in need
- Raising funds for equipment to improve an existing food project
